

If you do business with Florida's cities, you can't afford to miss these opportunities. Both are being held at the Diplomat Beach Resort in Hollywood on Wednesday August 15, the same hotel as the FLC Conference. Conference opens the next day.

Center for Municipal Research & Innovation Symposium
8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Disruptive Technology: Impacts on Local Government

New technologies are rapidly replacing established methods of service delivery and municipal governance. Autonomous vehicles, broadband WiFi and the sharing economy are impacting the way people interact with the city. Local leaders are seeking to embrace these technologies while balancing property rights and preserving the character of their communities. Join us and discuss local and nationwide trends, home-sharing and short-term rentals, present options and tools cities can use to work with disruptive technology companies, and explore the effects – both positive and negative – these technologies are having on our communities.

This intensive half day is geared toward public administration professionals and elected officials and is a great opportunity to learn side by side and problem solve with them. Registration includes lunch with keynote.

Candidate Forum – 2 p.m. – 5 p.m.

Mayors State Candidate Forum

The Florida League of Mayors is proud to present a Candidates Forum featuring candidates for the Governor and the US Senate seat. This forum is being held just two weeks before Primary Election Day! Expect some fireworks and timely discussion.

Because of the timeliness of this event and the high interest level, all city officials will be invited to attend the Candidate presentations. Additionally, historically, this is always a very well attended Mayors Roundtable because it's held the day before the FLC Conference begins.

Mayor's Reception – 6 p.m. – 7 p.m.

The League of Mayors and registered Business Watch members will have a social hour to mingle. And Business Watch will have the hospitality suite open afterwards, so you can invite people up there to continue the conversation.

Attendance is free for government, $500 per person for company attendees to attend any or all the events. Registration credits may be applied to attend this event. To check the status of your available credits, please contact Dani at Dahlberg@BusinessWatchInc.com or 813-884-3782.
